Research Topics

The Meshorer lab is studying nuclear processes in embryonic and neuronal stem cells, as well as in pluripotent models of neurodegenerative diseases, including chromatin dynamics and structure, nuclear architecture, transcription and splicing as well as epigenetic processes, in attempt to understand the mechanisms governing self-renewal, pluripotency and neuronal differentiation and function.

There is currently no content to view in this section.

UPCOMING EVENTS

Learn more about our exciting upcoming events!

read more

Studying at ELSC

Our Int'l Ph.D. program provides outstanding students with top-notch courses in computational neuroscience.

read more

The Building

The Jerusalem Brain Sciences Building will provide a state-of-the-art research and teaching facility for the Edmond and Lily Safra Center for Brain Sciences.

read more

ELSC Media Channel

Get into our media channel and investigate ELSC's latest videos: seminars, public lectures, courses and video articles.

read more