Tenure Track Positions at ELSC
Following the recent inauguration of the new home for the Edmond and Lily Safra Center for Brain Sciences (ELSC), we are offering tenure-track positions at the lecturer and senior lecturer levels (roughly equivalent to assistant professor level). We are looking for excellent early-stage scientists who aspire to establish active innovative and interdisciplinary research programs in neuroscience.

ELSC builds upon Hebrew University’s record of excellence and innovation in its multidisciplinary approach to brain sciences. ELSC provides a thriving interface between theoretical and experimental neuroscience across levels.

We Offer:

- State-of-the-art, individually-designed laboratories and research facilities
- Competitive start-up funding
- Top ranking Ph.D. interdisciplinary program
- Ph.D. and post-doc fellowships
- State-of-the-art central research facilities
- Outstanding academic milieu

We seek to recruit scientists in the following areas:

- Theoretical and computational neuroscience
- Cognitive neuroscience & human brain imaging
- Neural circuits and behavior
- System neuroscience in NHP
- Molecular neuroscience
Application requirements:

- Curriculum vitae
- A letter of intent
- An outline of future research and scientific vision
- Reference letters from the PhD advisor and Post-Doctoral host
- Three to five publications that best represent their research work
- Names of 2-3 additional colleagues willing to provide letters of reference

Application Deadline: September 1, 2017

All applications materials must be submitted on-line

For further information, please contact Ms. Idit Nusilevitz: brain@elsc.huji.ac.il; Phone: +972.2.65 85375
