Emotional, All Too Emotional

Neuroscience Views of Affect and Regulation in Humans

March 19th-21st 2013 - Tel Aviv University

Emotion and its regulation are one of the greatest riddles in human nature. From the ancient Greek and Indian wisdom, through the Middle Ages, Renaissance and on to modern philosophies, these topics occupy a central position in reflections on human behavior. In modern times the theoretical and empirical study of emotion and its regulation has led to the realization of high complexity, rather than a consensus over key conceptual characteristics.

We are excited to host a 3 day international conference on key aspects of emotion generation and emotion regulation, bringing together some of the most prominent figures in the field of affective neuroscience. The meeting is initiated and organized by the Tel Aviv branch of the Israeli Center of Research Excellence (I-CORE) on Cognitive Sciences.

Registration is free but mandatory due to limited space:
